Case History

In or about 2023, civil claims were filed in Quebec and British Columbia alleging that the emission levels in certain Hino trucks were misrepresented and exceeded regulatory limits in violation of Canadian law. Since then, the class has reached a settlement with Hino in the total amount of $55 million (CDN). This settlement received Court approval. Settlement funds (less any fees, expenses or any applicable Quebec government taxes) will be distributed to the class after a claims process is completed.
